Your Excellency,

I am writing to express my grave concern about the situation of Tibetan prisoner Bangri Tsamtrul Rinpoche (also known as Jigme Tenzin, Jinmei Danzeng, aka Renbuqin). He, along with his wife was wrongly convicted on charges of splittism after a construction worker at the Gyatso Children's Home tried to hoist the Tibetan flag during the Minority Games in 1999. He was never aware or involved in the incident.

The UN Special Rapporteur on Torture, Dr Nowak, visited Bangri Tsamtrul Rinpoche in Chushur Prison and concluded that he was severely tortured during the time of his detention. For five days he was interrogated day and night. He was held handcuffed with one hand behind his shoulder and the other around his waist. His legs were fettered, he was hooded and forced to kneel on a low stool. Despite his critical health situation, he is suffering from heart disease and very painful gall stones, he is denied medical treatment for both conditions.

I urge your government to release Bangri Tsamtrul Rinpoche, as well as other innocent Tibetan prisoners of conscience, immediately and unconditionally, and provide them with the medical care they need. Yours faithfully,

Bangri Rinpoche with an orphan child in summer 1999 before his arrest
